

DAILY CANDY

April 4, 2010 | Washington, D.C.

Here's the Plan

Washington, D.C., Events and Diversions

Don't put all your eggs in one basket.

LISTEN Explorers of Southern Cuisine

What: Siblings Matt and Ted Lee discuss down-home cooking and share tips from their book, The Lee Bros.

Simple Fresh Southern.

Why: NPR's senior national correspondent Linda Wertheimer moderates.

When: Tues., 6:45 p.m.

Where: Smithsonian Institution, S. Dillon Ripley Center, 1100 Jefferson Dr. SW (202-633-8700). Tickets online at residentassociates.org.  MAP IT

EAT

Dino Easter Brunch and Dinner

What: Get an outdoor table for the group and linger over Italian spring staples.

Why: Asparagus and prosciutto with saba and grana cheese, ~~meatballs, hummus, and bread and oil drizzle.~~

We invite you to find your GREAT ADVENTURE at
EXPO Study Abroad...

Study Abroad in Fiji? Intern in Brazil?
Volunteer in Panama? Find this and more at EXPO Study Abroad on April 8th.

To register for this FREE event and to win prizes visit:
www.expo-studyabroad.com/dailycandy

SPONSORED LINK

ExpoStudy Abroad 2010

What: The free event has all the info you need about studying or volunteering abroad, from learning Spanish in Panama to hospitality courses in a Swiss castle.

Why: Register for the chance to win a language program in Brazil, Spain, or Italy.

When: Apr. 8, Thurs., 3-8 p.m.

Where: University of California, Washington Center, 1608 Rhode Island Ave. NW or become a fan on Facebook.